THE ELECTRIC LIGHT introduced a year or more ago into Parisian work shops, has proved to be cheaper, notwithstanding the first cost of apparatus, than other methods of obtaining an artificial light of the same candle-power. Experiments made recently with a Gram-me machine, driven by one of Drayton's ready motors, are said to have given three times the light that could have been obtained from the petroleum used in the engine if it had been converted directly to light by burning in lamps, Some o the chief objections to the electric light including the difficulty of keeping the carbon points at the proper distance, so as to secure a steady and constant light without the use of expensive and delicate adjustment apparatus, have been overcome by recent inventions, and it is now claimed that the electrical light is superior in all respects to all other methods of lighting. A machine-room is Sweden, 112 feet long and 50 feet wide, is lighted almost as bright as day by two electric-light lamps placed at opposite ends of the building. The cost of the two machines was about $900, and the cost of running them must be very small in a room already provided with steam

American made boots are making inroads upon Europe, and the claim at the invasion is heard from the shoemakers of Switzerland and other Continental countries. The Berlin Shoemakers' Gazette says that American boots are sold in Switzerland at $2.90 per pair, and this has suddenly put a stop to the exportation of boots and shoes to America by opening competition on their own ground.
